REAL ESTATE SALES .- John S. Ryan sold yesterday three small houses in Blake-street, each on a lot thirty-three by eighty feet, for $1275; one-third cash, balance in two years. LADIES' MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION. Annual Meeting and Report

The annual meeting of the association took place yesterday afternoon, at five o'clock, in the Depository, Chalmers-street.

REPORT-JUNE 5, 1868, TO JUNE 5, 1869. Three years have passed since first the ladies of the Mutual Aid Association commenced their work, and now at this, the end of the year, we think it would prove interesting to recall some of the events which have transpired, and see how our Heavenly Father has, by His providence, signally blessed our endeavors, and aided us when most we required assistance and encouragement.

We all know with how much diffiulty the association was originally founded, and with what variable success the first and second years of its establishment were attended; how it struggled with all the difficulties consequent it struggled with all the difficulties consequent upon a want of sufficient means to effect the object for which it was intended, and how at times the ladies would be compelled to suspend their operations for a week or two to recover their exhausted treasury, and to ponder ways and means for its continuance. But through all these they were providentially enabled to remain firm, and our difficulties, thus far, have tended rather to strengthen the position we hope to maintain after a few years.

We commenced in June, 1868, with a balance in hand of $88 73, a debt of $200 resting upon us for the nurshese of material to provide us for the purchase of material to provide work, and $30 for the insurance on the Depository. The ladies immediately directed their attention to the discharge of these debts, and the providing of funds necessary to carry on the association. In the accomplishment of this object it gives us pleasure to add that the association. In the accomplishment of this object it gives us pleasure to add that our fellow-citizens were not regardless of our Managers, and the generous assistance of several musicians, amateur as well as profesional, a concert was given, from which we realized $441.50.

In July we received a donation of $100 from Mr. Thomas Moore, of Plainfield, New Jersey, who on hearing of the object of the association had become interested in its proceedings, and wrote to the president enclosing the above, and desiring further information in regard to it. On receipt of this, his interest becoming still more enlisted, he gave within the two succeeding months $400. making a total donastill more enlisted he gave within the two succeeding months $400, making a total donation of $500. These, together with several smaller do ations, enabled us to free ourselves entirely of debt, and make some necessary repairs on the Depository, leaving a good balance to work upon. Since then we have had the pleasure of acknowledging, from time to time, the receipt of the following donations, viz: From two "Friends" of the association, $100; from the former "Ladies" Depository of this city, $162; this being the interest accruing from some deposited funds of the above society, which is now in an unorganized state. Within the last two months we have received a kind expression of interest, united to a desire to relieve the wants of our people, in the form of a expression of interest, united to a desire to re-lieve the wants of our people, in the form of a donation of $250, from Mr. A. A. Low, of Brook-lyn, New York. Also various donations, such as fuel, stationery, biscuits, ice, &c., which all seemed to come just at the moment when most needed, and for which the donors will obtain the reward of their genero-sity in the kind feelings entertained towards them in the hearts of the grateful recipients. In several instances, we have received funds with the special request that the names should be withheld. These have been generally appropriated towards the purchase of garments for distribution among those who had formerly lived in comfort and luxury. Thus sadly have the reverses of the late war been felt in our midst.

The new branch connected with our deposi-The new branch connected with our depository, viz: the making of preserves, pickles, syrues, jelkes, wines and cordials, referred to in our last report as only commenced by way of trial, has, during this year, proved wonderfully successful, and has been the means not only of extending the utility of the association, but attracted the attention of those abroad as well as at home the interratt manifested in our only of extending the utility of the association, but attracted the attention of those abroad as well as at home, the interest manifested in our cause being thereby greatly advanced. The luxurious growth of the fruit crop last year enabled the ladies, about thirty in number, who furnish the depository, to make large quantities of preserves, which have amounted in value to more than $1000, and much more good might have been effected in this line had there been any certainty on the minds of the ladies that ready sale could have been found for their work. Most of the orders for preserves have been received from the North, our own population being too impoverished to assist us much in this way, and a great part of our success in these sales, it is but just to add, has been owing to the great efforts put forth in our behalf by several kind friends of the association residing at the North, who have exerted themselves to make known our institution, interested others in it, and obtain orders for us. To the "Female Employment Society." of Brooklyn, N. Y., we are much indebted for the recent disposal of preserves to a large amount; also to the "Ladies" Depository," of Baltimore.

This hyanch is subject to the sme rules recent disposal of preserves to a large amount; also to the "Ladies' Depository," of Baltimore. This branch is subject to the same rules and regulations as the needle-work—the percentage charged doing little more than defraying the necessary expenses of packing, shipping, drayage, &c.

Through means of our organization, the ladies making preserves are enabled to obtain their material at the lowest possible rates, as the association purchases by wholesale for them. In this way we have assisted a much larger number than we could otherwise have done. In stating the above, we would acknowledge the kindness shown the association by Mossrs. F. & J. Bodine, of Philadelphia, in selling their jars at reduced rates, and for liberal donations. Also, the Messrs. Paul, of this city, for their reduction of sugar in our favor, and for their liberality in gratuitously packing our boxes during the last season. We have been greatly encouraged to proceed in this part of our work by the constant large orders received, and the satisfactory reports of the purchasers, as sell as by the benefit which seems to have been produced to those engaged in it.

seems to have been produced to those engaged in it.

In regard to the needle work, it is only necessary to add that this, too, has been quite prosperous. The number of garments made up during the year has amounted to 1500 pieces. This includes 515 pieces of ordered work, when the material was furnished altogether by the employer, for which we received pay, and 985 pieces of store work, by which we mean that prepared simply for the purpose of supplying work, or in accordance with a direct order where we furnished all the material. For the cutting out of this work we have paid over $133. Large quantities of needle work as well as of the preserves have been sent North in accordance with orders received, and the expressions in regard to it have been most satisfactory to us, and have very frequently been the means of procuring further orders.

From the $50 entrusted to us last year by the 'Ladies' Depository," of Baltimore, principally in goods, we have realized an increase of $1650. This, we admit, is quite small, and might have been made more remunerative, except for our complicated accounts, which prevented us from paying special attention to this amount. During the coming year, however, we hope to render the statement more gratifying to the ladies of Baltimore.

The salesroom has brought us a return this year of $1393 19, or an average per month of $116. This defrays our weekly expenses but does not enable us to give out as much work as the demand requires; and we would sometimes have fallen very far short had not our does not enable us to give out as much work as the demand requires; and we wculd sometimes have fallen very far short had not our wants been supplied by orders from without, which have been greatly increased this year. We take this opportunity of thatking our customers for their patronage, and would earnestly solicit its continuance in the future. The association is so wall known. the future. The association is so well known now, that it is the general resort for those who desire to obtain work, and we have endeavored now, that it is the general resort for those who desire to obtain work, and we have eudeavored to regulate our prices as much as possible in accordance with the requirements of both the employer and employee.

There is one other point upon which we have not yet touched, and which has caused us some regret—we refer to the subscriptions. Advancing in every other respect, our subscriptions have diminished each year, and now only amount to $272 C7. The annual subscription is but one dollar, which we frequently find difficult to obtain. So many are dependent upon this association for partial, if not entire support, that we would earnestly set forward the necessity for a greater extension of this means of supply in the coming year. And we would especially desire to bring to the notice of the public that none are authorized to collect for the Mutual Aid Association except those who have their regular subscription books, with the signatures of the officers attached. We have recently learned that a considerable amount of collections were made within the past year in the name of the association, by fraudulent characters, and would embrace this opportunity of placing persons on their guard in relation to this matter.

We subjoin for the consideration of the members of the association, and all those interested in its success. the following condensed

Mr. Porter, under instructions, moved for a e intinuance of the case on the ground that the juries are not organized as the law directs.

It was ordered that the jurors should be drawn under the last act of the Legislature, one section of the act having provided that should take effect from its passage. The judges of the State Court had declined to exersise jurisdiction until the jurors are drawn in conformity to the act, and the question arose whether under the law the party litigant in the United States Court has not the right to ask a continuance of his cause until the jury is drawn in conformity with the existing State law. If they thought proper to accept the jury as organized, there could be no objection. But it was a question whether it is not the spirit and intent of this law that the practice of the Courts of the United States shall conorm itself to the practice of the State Courts.

Mr. Hull said that every act of legislation is rospective and not retrospective, unless expressly previded in the enactment itself. A change that is made in the law after the jurors are drawn, the venire issued, the jurors summoned, and the venire returned, will surely not be held to invalidate that proceeding, and thereby render it impracticable to hold a term The Chief Justice gave a verbal opinion
